Not illustrated. 1872 Excerpt: .of a given semi cylinder by a vertical plane, the diameter A B being horizontal, and suppose the bounding elements through A and B to be limited at a horizontal plane at the distance A A below A B , and to pierce this plane at the points JE and D, on a line parallel to AB and at a given distance from it; these elements being oblique both to the vertical plane and to the horizontal plane, and therefore not projected on either into their true lengths. Let LM be the axis, and JED a bounding element of another semi cylinder, the right section of which is a semicircle; LM and JED being also in the given horizontal plane. It is proposed, with these data, to find the lengths of the elements of the oblique cylinder intercepted between the vertical plane of A B C and the horizontal cylinder; the curve of right section of the oblique semi cylinder at any assumed point; and the development of the portion of it which lies between the given vertical plane and the horizontal semi cylinder. 1st. The simplest method of finding the true lengths of the elements between the vertical plane and horizontal cylinder will be to construct their projections on another vertical plane parallel to them. Let B J Y be the trace of such a plane on the horizontal plane containing the axis LM of the horizontal semi cylinder, and B e its trace on the given vertical...
