But after that fright I guess Im done working for today. Lets go back to camp. No one raised any objections, so they prepared to return. Lil Artha managed to fasten a strong cord to the tail of the rattlesnake, which Alec 99 said he would drag after him. The long-legged scout had already shown the two tenderfeet the cruel looking curved fangs in the partly shattered head, as well as the sickly, green-hued poison that could be pressed from the sack by using a stick on a certain part of the said head. They had been greatly impressed, and likewise shocked to realize what a narrow escape both of them had had from near-death. All the way back the talk was of the hidden perils that lie in wait for unsuspecting passersby in the woods. This ranged from wildcats to rattlesnakes and adders and scorpions. Lil Artha seemed to be a walking encyclopedia of knowledge along these lines; part of this he had picked up through personal experience, and the rest came through extensive reading, or hearing others tell about it. A scout may find scores of ways for learning useful things, if only he cares to bother about doing it. Later on they approached the camp. George, who had managed to get through with his numerous odd jobs and was resting, seemed surprised, to have them come back so soon. Huh! guess you got tired of the job quickern you expected, Rufus! he called out lazily from his seat on the soft moss under a tree. All work and...
