It is a navigation map for parenting in an After-Google world of exponential technological growth, unprecedented globalization, and seismic postmodern quakes reshaping the ground we walk on. Get the help you need to make decisions about activities, schools, and projects that will help your child and teen develop Innovation, Critical Thinking, Collaboration, Emotional Intelligence, Resilience, Leadership, and Vision skills. Stories include not only projects like robotics, video game design, and electronic prototyping, but also combining a passion of music, history, art, and psychology with Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM). Woven throughout are essential elements of spirituality. Guide your child to discover inner resources that prepare them to ride the surf of frequent change and hold fast to visions that seek to build a world of meaning, beauty, truth and justice.
